

strive for those not enacted, which will have a right similar to that pronounced by President Roosevelt on taking the oath of office over the body of the dead McKinley.

Wade Ellis, Attorney-General of Ohio, who has prospects of being the Ohio member of the platform committee of the convention, and who was largely responsible for the conceded virility of the Ohio Republican platform, is here for a thorough understanding with the Secretary of War. He was with Mr. Taft at his office for several hours today, and at the Taft residence for a long time to-night. Another conference is to be held to-morrow, when it is not unlikely the result will be brought to the attention of President Roosevelt.

For Tariff Revision.
Secretary Taft has made no secret of his position on the tariff. He is for revision at a special session of the Sixty-first Congress, to be called immediately after the inauguration on March 4, 1909. His ideas as to what the tariff should be also are public property. The schedules should be drawn as near as possible to cover the difference between the lesser cost of production of a given article in foreign countries and the cost to produce that article in the United States. This he regards as "protection" in its true and fair sense.

Schedules which are fixed at a rate higher than this difference, he believes are not only unnecessary as means of protection, but are evil because of their temptation to capitalists to form monopolies and trusts in this country for the control in the market of that particular product.

For the Ohio Platform.
From this information the prediction is declared to be a safe one that the tariff plank to be presented to the Resolution Committee by the Taft adherents will follow closely the lines of the Ohio platform, with the added specifications regarding the manner of arriving at the amount of tariff which should be levied.

Mr. Ellis is known to be heartily in favor of a plank stipulating that amendments should be made to the Sherman antitrust laws, and Secretary Taft is known to be a thorough believer in the theory of trust control through Federal laws. The embodiment of these ideas into a plank, which may take the form of an endorsement of the Hepburn bill, which died a peaceful death in the House Judiciary Committee, is said to be a safe prediction. The conference, however, will not be restricted in their personnel, and it is believed that before the Taft platform is finally perfected for submission the views of many of the party leaders will have been obtained.

Giffen Plays for Children.
The first performance of "In Mizoura," the Giffen offering for the children, was given at the Academy last night for the benefit of a children's playground in Lee District, before the largest and most fashionable crowd that has up to this time witnessed any of the productions of the stock company.

Although a first night, the performance was not without the slightest suspicion of a hit, and it was as evenly as if the company had been playing it all the season.

"In Mizoura" easily eclipses, from almost every point of view, the productions yet given by Manager Giffen. The play is one of the rarest attainments of Augustus Thomas. It is so full of life, and so full of human interest and genuine comedy that it will never grow old, but will retain its freshness.

The stage settings last night must have satisfied even the cravings of R. L. Giffen for realism, for there was a real blacksmith imported from a real blacksmith shop in one of the byways of Richmond, with real smut on his face; a real corkscrew fence, captured from the wilds of Chesterfield and various other real accessories. Not one of the most minute details was overlooked in the staging of the piece, and the result must have delighted the heart of the man whose head and hand directed the work, to whom all commendation is due, as well as the hearts of his audience.

Mr. Richard Bennett, who has this season been heavily in the picture, is it is his wont to play, is by no means as old as his latest part would of necessity have him seem. He is still as young as the dawn, and his great talent has in no way reached its full development, although he now stands on a very high rung of the ladder.

His ability to successfully play these older parts is only another mark of the genius of the man. His characterization of the role of Jim Radburn last night was strong, faithful and true, and the part could not have been assigned to more capable hands.

Miss Lucille La Verne as Mrs. Vernon was cast in part which so exactly coincided with her best talents that the result was an interpretation of the helmside of the drama which brought forth well-earned approbation from her audience, which she was able to move by the intonation of her voice or a gesture of her hands.

The Lizabeth of Miss Grace Scott was inimitable, and those who did not faint from fatigue from a surfeit of laughter, caused by her droolers and her picturesque "make-ups" were the exception. The dainty, doll-like Grace Scott of previous years had entirely disappeared, but a Grace Scott there was who was unique and refreshing.

Address and Banquet.
CRAWFORD, N.E., June 1.—An elaborate program of entertainment was given for the reception of Mr. Bryan following an address at the Opera House. His party was escorted to a hotel, where a banquet was given. The character of the party was of the highest order. The menu card was headed with a portrait of Mr. Bryan, and the picture of the White House.

LITTLEFIELD MASTER IN FAMOUS DEBT CASE.
[From Our Regular Correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—The Supreme Court today designated Representative Charles E. Littlefield, of Maine, as master to take testimony in the case of Virginia West Virginia for a settlement of the debt contracted before the war, and before the division of the Old Dominion.

West Virginia asked for the appointment of Mr. Littlefield, but there is reason to believe that the appointment will be entirely satisfactory to Virginia.

Some years ago a speculator got hold of a considerable amount of West Virginia certificates, and tried to present them to the State of Maine, in violation of that State's laws. North Dakota accepted the gift of bonds repudiated by North Carolina, and on suit in the Supreme Court of the United States obtained a judgment.

the play, Wilhelm Dingsbender (Little Chip) goes off to sleep, and what he dreams is noted on the stage. He wakes up at the end of the act and finds himself back on the farm.

Little Chip, as usual, was highly amusing in his part, and his part to produce a laugh. Miss Mary Marble was likewise up to her regular standard of petite fun-making as Mrs. Dingsbender's daughter. She still clings persistently to the Buster Brown locks. Johnny Johnson, in the role of Seth Hubbs, village blacksmith of Virginia, was very good, as also was Robert Hart, as the real estate man.

Bill at the Colonial for the first half of the week is calculated to attract large crowds, the entertainment last night being particularly clever. The talking machine pictures, including Marie Beaugarde and the chorus from "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" won instant success. The motion picture entitled "The Vestal" Mr. Bryant made a fine impression with his song hit, "The Girl Who Threw Me Down."

LIE PASSED IN CITY COUNCIL

The Grounds and Buildings Committee to inquire into the advisability of establishing a municipal swimming pool on the river front, which was also referred.

Resolutions were introduced by Mr. Cary directing the retirement of Mr. R. G. Lucas for life on full pay, which went to the Water Committee, in which department Mr. Lucas is the oldest employee; an ordinance for employing a landscape artist at a cost of $5,500 for municipal improvements, and appropriating $600 for the Richmond Training School for Kindergartners.

Mr. Pollard introduced an ordinance to prevent land grabbing. Mr. Davis got through under suspension of the rules an appropriation of $900 for furnishing the rooms of the new Civil Court.

Mr. Davis also sent up an ordinance appropriating $300 for locating and building a foundation for the granite fountain presented to the city by the National Humane Alliance. Mr. Lynch wanted to amend by making the location of the fountain Jefferson Avenue and Adams and Broad, and after much discussion the ordinance went over to the next meeting. The Council concurred in the resolution granting one year additional time to the Richmond and Henric Railroad Company.

The Council adjourned to meet Thursday night to conclude the docket.

GOES INTO MINISTRY

Mr. Alfred S. B. Montgomery, of No. 702 East Twenty-first Street, for some time past at the Richmond Cedar Works, was presented to East Hanover Presbyterian yesterday and accepted as a candidate for the Presbyterian ministry. Mr. Montgomery is a son of Mrs. Margaret E. Montgomery, and was raised in this city. He is a member of the Grace Street Presbyterian Church, and was introduced to the ministry by his pastor, Dr. Witherspoon.

At an adjourned session of the presbytery last night Rev. Dr. H. Ralston, the recently elected pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Petersburg, to whom all commendation is due, as well as the hearts of his audience.

Mr. Richard Bennett, who has this season been heavily in the picture, is it is his wont to play, is by no means as old as his latest part would of necessity have him seem. He is still as young as the dawn, and his great talent has in no way reached its full development, although he now stands on a very high rung of the ladder.

WIFE DEAD; HUSBAND ILL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
EMPORIA, VA., June 1.—Mrs. Alfred A. Slagle died at an early hour this morning, after a brief illness. She was a native of this city, and was a member of the Grace Street Presbyterian Church. She was a devoted wife and mother, and was well known in the community.

The shock incident to death of his wife, which she was believed to have been suffering from for some time, was a severe blow to the family. The funeral will be held at a later date.

Police Commissioners went after many things in a strenuous way last night, especially the question of unlicensed dogs. Mr. Ferguson, of the Fourth Ward, was leader in the movement to make the owners of dogs have them properly tagged, and said that he would see to it that not many of the canine tribe were allowed to roam the streets unlicensed next year.

Mr. Ferguson said that there were certainly as many as 200 dogs in the city upon which no tax was paid, and that a great many licensed dogs were untagged.

The present year for dog licenses ends August 1st. Mayor Maurice said that he would instruct the police to make a house to house canvass before that time, notifying the owners to take out new licenses upon their dogs. If this did not serve the purpose, more stringent methods would be used.

Mr. Abbott complimented the police on the enforcement of the curfew law, saying that since their recent activity in that line most of the children hustled for home at the last tap of the bell.

The Committee on Rules, which has been out for a long time, had their report prepared and ready to be read, but owing to the fact that another committee was waiting to use the hall, it was decided to postpone receiving it until to-day week.

Committee Balks at Tobacco.
Inductively attracted to the commissioners adjourned, the Committee on Almshouse and the Poor took the hall. The report of Mr. Jones, Superintendent of the Almshouse, was read and adopted, but when several bills from grocers for goods sold to the outside poor men from members of the committee were read, and the item "tobacco" was heard to occur frequently, members of the committee balked. Mr. Abbott didn't oppose furnishing a little tobacco to inmates of the almshouse, but he did not believe in serving food to the poor. The committee adjourned.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE

ROUGH ON RATS

TRADE MARK

DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE

Unbeatable Exterminator

EXTERMINATOR OF THE BUBONIC PLAGUE

The Plague is a disease of the rat, and fleas living on the infected rat become themselves infected and carry the disease to other rats, and to the people.

ROUGH ON RATS, THE OLD RELIABLE THAT NEVER FAILS

Rats are too cunning to be caught by stereotype, ready-prepared-for-use doses. Rats are smart, but ROUGH ON RATS beats them.

REASONS WHY

Because of the fact that ROUGH ON RATS (95%) poison and has to be mixed is the reason why it is the most effective, and so reliable, as an exterminator of Roaches, Ants and Bed Bugs as well as Rats and Mice.

There is enough poison in one 15c. box of ROUGH ON RATS to kill 500 to 1000 Rats and Mice.

Fools the Rats, Mice and Bugs, but never fools the buyer.

WHY? Because Rats instinctively avoid the families forms of ready-prepared-for-use doses. ROUGH ON RATS, being unmixable and all poison, can be disguised in many ways, thus completely outwitting them; and you are not paying 15c. for flour, paste and grease (that can be had for 6 cents a pound), that must necessarily form the bulk of ready-prepared-for-use catch-penny devices.

Being all poison, one 15c. box of ROUGH ON RATS, when mixed with something they will eat, will spread 50 to 100 little breads or cakes, that will kill five hundred or more Rats and Mice, and thousands of Roaches, Ants and Bed Bugs.

IN MEMORIAM

FARMER.—In sad but loving remembrance of our beloved son, WILTON FARMER, who died ten years ago, to-day, June 2, 1898.

Ten years have passed and still we miss him.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That is within our hearts concealed.

Afflictions sore so long time he bore;
Physicians' skill was vain.
Till God was pleased that death
Should seize.
And ease his earthly pain.

But why should we weep when the weary one is at rest
In the bosom of Jesus supreme,
In the mansion of glory prepared for
His death is only a dream.
By his parents,
H. N. AND MARY M. FARMER.

GASSER.—In sad but loving remembrance of my husband, E. T. GASSER, who died June 2, 1897, one year ago to-day.

How we miss you, husband;
Miss you more than words can pass;
Every hour and day that passes
Brings us nearer you to dwell.

Friends may think we soon forget
And my wounded heart be healed,
But place is in my heart the sorrow
That's within my breast concealed.

Yet, again, we hope to see you
When the day of life has fled,
And in heaven with joy to greet you,
Where no farewell tears are shed.
HIS WIFE.
